MISSION STATEMENT

We believe, that only children can make a family complete. Our aim is to give a healthy child to all infertile couples. Reaching this goal requires effective, innovative but proven methods. We believe in complex medical approach, and in the power of cooperation.

We value the importance of scientific achievements, as a result of this our institute practices only evidence-based medicine. In order to be able to provide the best outcome for our patients, not only are our operating protocols constantly updated and developing, but our team is also continuously trained in accordance with the latest international and national scientific results.

We believe in the importance of professional communication. In our opinion as a part of the good medical practice we have to provide sufficient and detailed information to enable patients to make the best decisions about their care.
